Great Canadian Healthcare Debate

Please consider submitting a resolution to the Great Canadian Healthcare Debate! This is a great opportunity for the voice of health leaders to be heard. Please share - What needs to be done to raise the bar, foster innovation, and improve organizational and health system performance?

Royal Roads Leadership Conference

Leadership Conference 2015: Leadership.Complex.World will take place on October 1-3, 2015 in Victoria, BC. Registration for this Royal Roads University event is ongoing through their website.

Leadership Development Practices

In the spirit of dialogue and engagement, CHLNet would like to enhance sharing between partners on leadership and leadership development practices. Alies Maybee of Patients Canada kicked this off at our December 10th Network Partners' Roundtable and a copy of her PowerPoint on patient leaders can be downloaded by clicking here. If you are a Network Partner, please let us know if you have a practice, program or leadership journey you would like to share with others.

In this e-blast, we highlight the Centre for Healthcare Innovation (CHI) in Manitoba who, in their drive for system improvement and innovation, has committed to developing leaders in the academic health sciences network who bring creativity, inquiry, passion and new ideas to their field of practice. Their leadership development programs are accessible by mid-career health care professionals in the Health Sciences faculties interested in senior level leadership. Two main programs are in place, in addition to other training opportunities: the Academic Health Sciences Leadership Program; and a partnership with the Canadian Medical Association's Physician Management Institute (PMI). For more information, please visit the CHI website. As well, Frank Krupka, Executive Director of CHI, will be presenting their approach and successes at the May 26th CHLNet Network Partners' Roundtable.

CHLNet Working Groups

Our working groups comprised of Network Partners have been busy; more news on their work in our next e-blast.
